Recommendation Notes
Based on data collected today, our recommendation is Bachelors as a best starting point for a career in health. This is because you have taken Chemistry, Physics, and Biology at level 3. You also have a Table A subject. Today's recommendation is provisional until your final NCEA results are released in January. We will confirm your final recommendation in January. Please note, that if your final NCEA results are not as strong as expected, we may change your recommendation to Certificate in Health Sciences in January.

This is where we think your best starting point for success is. It could be Bachelors level study, the Certificate in Health Sciences programme or a starting point at another faculty or institution.

This is the written summary of our recommendation. It tells you why we think you should start at a particular level to maximise your success.

PLEASE NOTE:

- For school leaver applicants: the information gathered today AND your actual school results will be used to inform the final MAPAS recommendation in January.
- For mature applicants: the information gathered today AND any tertiary transcripts (if applicable) will be required to inform the final MAPAS recommendation in January. You must provide any outstanding documents to the University of Auckland by Friday 4 January 2019 in order for MAPAS to make a final recommendation.
- Your final recommendation may change as it is dependent on secondary school results of each applicant and the number of places available in each programme.
- The final MAPAS recommendation does not override a University of Auckland programme offer if you meet programme requirements for entry (i.e. Rank Score, Table A/B credits, GPE).
- You must apply online for the Certificate in Health Sciences before Thursday 3 January 2019 in order for an offer to be made for that programme.
